

HEALING PATIENTS, PROTECTING THE PLANET

Become an EPEAT Healthcare Purchaser and get public recognition for your system's green initiatives.

EPEAT® is the definitive global rating system for greener electronics. Thousands of products designed to meet stringent environmental criteria are registered in EPEAT, the leading resource for finding technology designed to minimize impact on the planet. EPEAT-registered products adhere to the latest technical specifications of ENERGY STAR® — and may help lower your power bill — and are designed, manufactured and produced in a way that reduces toxic content and solid waste, decreases emissions and increases recyclability.

EPEAT is recognized by key healthcare environmental programs like the Healthier Hospitals Initiative and Practice Green Health. Show progress toward your sustainability goals and build your system's environmental reputation by using EPEAT to reduce the negative impacts of your electronics purchasing. An environmental benefits calculator developed by U.S. EPA helps quantify the positive impact of your purchasing for sustainability reporting.

Hospitals, health systems, GPOs, corporations, educational institutions and governments around the world are already using EPEAT to compare greener electronics head to head and make informed purchasing decisions. EPEAT's searchable database includes thousands of qualified computers, monitors, printers, copiers and televisions from more than 50 manufacturers, more than any other environmental rating system. Coverage for televisions, in particular, offers a transformative opportunity for hospitals, some of the largest institutional purchasers of TVs.

Talk to your GPO or IT purchasing staff about using EPEAT to identify greener product choices to meet your needs.

Healthcare Purchaser Program

When you use EPEAT to purchase greener electronics, get the recognition you deserve and the resources you need by joining our Healthcare Purchaser program. Access EPEAT's learning resources and work with EPEAT staff to help you tell your story to patients, management and your community. Your health system will also be recognized on the EPEAT website and positioned as an environmental leader in media outreach and case studies.

Why EPEAT?

Only EPEAT combines comprehensive criteria for design, production, energy use and recycling with ongoing independent verification of manufacturer claims. It's an easy-to-use resource for governments looking for high-performance, environmentally preferable products.
